

How to give your building business some serious firepower

Support from start to finish...

Any one of our software tools will help your business be more efficient and in turn, more profitable, but together, they really pack a punch. They can literally help your building projects from concept to completion; from CAD, to cost estimating and client and subcontractor building contracts, to construction phase management including task, job and project management and health and safety.

All these tools are integrated.

One set of data can be shared across each product, saving time and avoiding errors.

The next page shows you how it works.

PlansXpress is CAD and Take-off software that enables you, with no drawing experience, to produce planning permission-ready plans, elevations and 3D models.

You can either import your PlansXpress file into the award-winning EstimatorXpress for an automatic estimate or use ready-made templates for speedy quoting.

EstimatorXpress is fully populated with the latest material prices, and includes hundreds of calculators for all kinds of projects - retrofit, refurbishment, extensions, loft conversions and new builds.

ContractsXpert provides legal security for the builder. It provides contracts, plus covering letter and legal letters for your customers and your sub-contractors.

The cloud-based job and task management software, BuildProjex, makes it possible to plan, manage, track and share information from anywhere. You can collaborate with the customer too.

As the builder in charge you have a legal duty to keep everyone safe on site and surrounding area. Health & Safety Xpert selects relevant health & safety documents for the job in hand.

The software tools talk to each other...

...to save you masses of time and avoid errors. You input the project details once and away you go. Why spend hours repeating yourself?

Thanks to some coding wizardry all the HBXL Building Software tools use unique data-sharing technology. So PlansXpress not only draws, it cleverly captures the specification of what has been drawn with all the labour, plant and material etc. This is then intelligently utilised in EstimatorXpress for an almost instant cost estimate. The Estimate file can then be shared with Health & Safety Xpert and ContractsXpert, to avoid further reworking. The same complex and sophisticated analysed data from EstimatorXpress, emerges instantly in BuildProjex for use during the construction phase.

PlansXpress

Draw or trace your plan and the software will build a detailed understanding of the job. Then give it to EstimatorXpress.

EstimatorXpress

From the data-rich PlansXpress file you get an automatic, fully priced estimate, plus customer quotation and a set of valuable reports.

The exported Estimate file drops into these synced software tools, Health & Safety Xpert, BuildProjex and ContractsXpert for automatic data population

Health & Safety Xpert

The Estimate file informs the software so you only get the Health & Safety documents relevant to that project - all produced automatically.

BuildProjex

The data in the estimate feeds into BuildProjex to automatically give you tasks, populated calendar and build programme, and more.

ContractsXpert

From the Estimate File you get automatically generated contracts and legal documents - all ready in a matter of minutes.
